Chimes Dedicated

The chimes in the belfry of the Methodist Church at Catskill, N. Y., were dedicated in a service to the memory of the late George C. Stebbins on Sunday, February 24th. Rev. Orson O. Rice, minister of the church, conducted the memorial service and with the trustees of the fund and members of the congregation dedicated the bells in the following words:

We dedicate these Bells to the healing of life's discords; to the lifting of the depressed and the comforting of the sorrowing; to the people who come into the sanctuary; to those of the community; to the people who pause to listen; to those of kindred spirit though far away; to the memory of Thy servant who being dead yet speaketh in his music and to all people of good will.

Dr. Paul D. Moody delivered the dedication sermon.

Many in Northfield cherish the memory of Mr. Stebbins and his hymns and gospel songs will carry down through the ages. It is gratifying that local friends and summer residents were contributors to the memorial chimes.

International Week

Sixteen college girls, representing eleven foreign countries, were guests of the School for Girls recently when the annual International Weekend, sponsored by the International Club of the Northfield School Church, was held. The program opened Friday evening with dinner and the showing of a French film in Silverthorn Hall. On Saturday the guests toured the campus and met with the church cabinet and in the afternoon took part in an informal forum and tea. Speakers at the forum were Miss Francine Bouillon of France, student at Smith College; Miss Karin Farnstrom of Sweden, student at Russell Sage; and Miss Marcia Janovska of Czechoslovakia, student at Vassar. Highlight of the weekend was the International Fair, held in Silverthorn Hall Saturday evening. Movies of Czechoslovakia, England and Iran were shown and the German, French and Spanish classes presented a program of songs. Members of the student body at Northfield and faculty having connections with other countries offered exhibits in Phillips Hall and held a fashion show. The speaker at the Sunday morning service was Mr. Paul Harris of Putney, Vt., lecturer and writer. Among the other countries represented during the weekend were Puerto Rico, Brazil, Denmark, Argentina, South Africa, Switzerland, Russia and China and the college group included students from Russell Sage, Skidmore, Vassar, Mount Holyoke and Smith.

On the previous weekend International Weekend was observed at Mount Hermon when Dr. Samuel Guy Inman of New York, noted authority and specialist on Latin-American affairs, and Dr. Liston Pope, professor of sociology at Yale, were guest speakers. The combined orchestras of the Schools offered a program at noon assembly in Camp Hall.

Will Have More Work

The Board of Assessors and the tax collector will find their work increased this year, due to a new state law going into effect this year. The law requires that every individual portion of land be assessed to its owner and that special descriptive details be recorded by the assessors in estimating their valuations. This virtually means that properties will not be grouped in a single assessment and taxpayers owning several portions of land and buildings thereon will receive a bill for each lot or portion, thus increasing the work of the tax collector as well as the assessors. It will also mean that listings in the booklet of values and valuations issued every three years, by the assessors, will this year be increased in the number of its pages of listings, costing much more for printing. Because of the increased work by the assessors, there was appropriated the sum of $1,250 for their use and the sum of $100 for their expenses. The tax collector will receive the sum of $500 and $150 expenses. Last year the assessors received $600 and expenses $75.00. The tax collector $400, expenses $137. Our assessors are Fred S. Merrifield, chairman, Ernest A. Parker and Clifford A. Field. The tax collector is Charles F. Slate.

John Kasandi Dies

Following several years of ill health, John Kasandi died at his home on Highland Ave., Thursday, February 21, at the age of 58 years. He was born in Agard, Hungary, December 4, 1887, and came to this country about 32 years ago becoming a United States citizen and locating in Yonkers, N. Y. From Yonkers he came to Northfield and has been in the employ of the Northfield Schools for thirty years. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Kasandi, two sons, John and Joseph Kasandi, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, all of this town. Both sons served in World War II. The funeral services were held in St. Patrick's Church on Saturday morning following and burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

GONE TO FLORIDA

Enjoyed Winter Carnival

Snow of near-blizzard proportions ushered in the annual Winter Carnival at the Northfield School for Girls. Coming as a surprise holiday, all classes were suspended and after breakfast all activity centered around Perry Pond and the athletic field where the throne of the Carnival King and Queen was erected. Despite the heavy fall of snow the students in each dormitory competed in the snow sculpture contest, offering figures molded in snow and ice representing an obstacle race on skis, Donald Duck on skis, the Veterans discharge button, Rodin's "Thinker," a horse and sleigh, which was executed by Revell-Holton Hall and awarded first prize. Winter sports events on the program were the skating relay races, followed by the cross country snowshoe race and the ski dash. After lunch the cross country ski race got under way and just as the winner crossed the line trumpets announced the arrival of the King and Queen of the carnival, followed by members of their court. This year the king and queen, chosen by popular vote of the students and whose identity remains a secret until carnival day, were Betty Lee Moore of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Mexico, the Queen; and Carol Reed of Washington, D. C., as King. Members of their court included Nancy Hills of Westfield, N. J., Shirley Gilmore of Nichols, Conn., Jane DeLacy of East Williston, N. Y., and Barbara Perkins of Savannah, N. Y. Following the royal procession the girls competed in the ski obstacle race, snowshoe open race, the ski slalom on Chapel Hill and figure skating on Perry Pond. At the conclusion of these events the students gathered around the throne for the awarding of prizes for the winners of the various contests.

Named College Dean

Prof. Leishman Peacock has been appointed Dean of Ottawa University at Ottawa, Kansas, where he has efficiently served as head of the English department. He received his Ph.D. from State College, Pennsylvania, in 1942, where he had taught for several years, as assistant professor in English. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College in North Carolina with the A.B. and A.M. degrees. He is the son of Rev. Joseph L. Peacock, now of Glen Falls, N. Y., retired clergyman and former president of Shaw University. The family have a summer residence on Cliff Road, Rustic Ridge, and each year spend a portion of the season here. Prof. Peacock, better known to many friends here as Lee Peacock, for several years, served on the campus of the School for Girls, during the conference season. With his wife, he hopes to visit Northfield this summer.

HOMOGENIZED MEANS COMBINED

Rich cream, full bodied milk, bottled under the most exacting conditions --- all three combined to give you the most delicious, nutritive bottle of milk ever. And in homogenized Vitamin "D" milk you'll find just that.

This process disperses the cream so that there's cream in every drop you drink. It means a more healthful, better tasting milk --- the kind you like to drink.
